

Bones & Holes

A Nullself Activity Book

To You,

Thank you for owning my zine! Whether you bought it from me, or it was a gift, or you just found it on the table of an amazing queer party, I greatly appreciate you taking the time to open this zine up and check out what's inside.

My past four zines have been inkwork and poetry zines that acted as time capsules for my work. This zine is different: it's an activity zine, focused on entertaining you through puzzles, activities, and coloring. The best way to experience this zine is with a pack of markers or other coloring tool, writing and scribbling on these pages with reckless abandon. Don't hold back; I can print more zines, but I can't replicate your creativity.

I've already put myself in this work.
Add yourself to it, too.

ROWAN

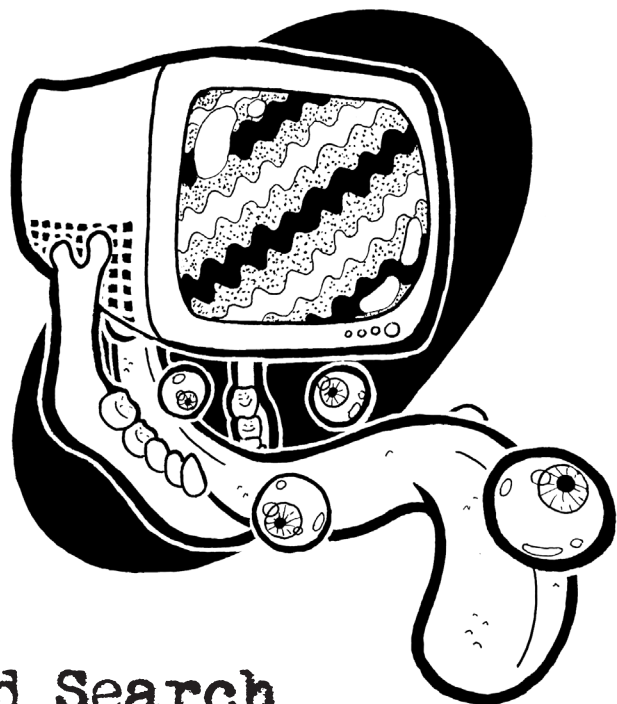

PS. If you enjoy this activity book, please see my contact information on the back and send me pictures!

Cipher Puzzle Two

Everything you need to decode the two messages on the page to the right is in the text. Each block of text uses a different [key], but the pattern for finding and using that [key] is the same. Can you figure out what they say?
